Director's Insurance

What do you do if a fellow shareholder dies?

Where do the shares go?

In most cases, to the next of kin and that is usually to a spouse who is not interested or may not have the knowledge or the experience to become involved in the day to day running of a business. Insurance or an agreement to cover this eventuality can be arranged so that there is money available to buy back the shares of the deceased.

We work with a specialist FSA company to discuss and arrange cover if so required.

Director Liability Insurance is another service that can be discussed and referred to a specialist if necessary.

Virtual Office Service

Through our association with a well known provider, we can arrange a Virtual Office Service from telephone answering, receiving mail, 'hot-desking' and meeting rooms to full serviced offices facilities. Ask for further details.

Logo, Brochure Design & Printing

We can refer you to a professional company for logo and brochure design and / or printing. The company is used by The Company Shop and other associated companies for our requirements in this field and is highly recommended.

Web Hosting, Email Management & Web Services

Getting your new business online is a great way to reach new customers and make things more efficient. The Company Shop can help get you set up with your website address and email 'on the go'.

Domain Names

It is important that your company has a presence on the internet from the very beginning. We can register your preferred domain name at the initial set-up of the company. By registering the domain name you ensure that no one else can use it. We will check your preferred domain name - usually the same as your company name.

We can get you started with:

- yourcompanyname.com
- Holding page
- Ten email addresses (you@yourcompany.com)
- Space to upload a website
- Fast and friendly support

Our solution lets you access your email from any web browser, meaning you can check it no matter where you are and is even compatible with most smartphones, so you can receive your messages wherever you go.

- We now have a Company E-Start up package available for all your online requirements. (Ask for details).
- Over 5,000 email & hosting accounts managed daily since 2001.
- An award winning service.
